AFROHUN'S APPROACH: ONE HEALTH IS AN APPROACH AND NOT ANOTHER DISCIPLINE

Strategic Direction (1)

- Impacting the African Continent – The AFROHUN One Health Academy;
  - Consolidating key achievements into programs to be delivered through the One Health Academy
  - Fewer high impact activities with clear focus contributing to defined change
  - Integrate African Capacity to coordinate the Global Health Security Agenda
  - Pooling the strength of the network members and partners; and lessons learned
  - Opportunity for Universities to stand in the “no discipline” space

Strategic Direction (2)

- Positioning the network beyond universities / Stepping out of the university walls
  - Amplifying our role within and beyond universities.
  - Engage other players including policy makers, industry (private sector, businesses), civil society, and communities.
  - Proactiveness in identifying changing workforce needs and working collaboratively to design adaptive workforce development programs.
  - Working together in synergy, learning from each other and leveraging each others' strengths.
- Expanded network mandate – continental outlook
  - Spreading out from regional to continental level coverage - AFROHUN
  - Institutional to national
  - Multi-level operations –subnational levels, tertiary, communities
  - Expansion beyond traditional disciplines -- agriculture, forestry, wildlife, veterinary and public health paraprofessionals, and allied health professionals, technical and vocational training institutions
  - Moving from project to institutionalization

Strategic Direction (3)

- Evidence-informed program design and implementation
  - Reflect on the implementation processes alongside structured M&E
  - University training programs are based on actual country needs
  - Move the workforce development process beyond the assessments
  - Utilize science in finding solutions to complex health challenges
  - Strategically build capacity that will be responsive to government needs and relevant to government
  - Support government improve core capacities in line with IHR, OIE-PVS, and JEE

Strategic Direction (4)

- Looking beyond USAID funding
- Call to action:
  - Identify funding and other resource opportunities
  - Identify people who are into mobilizing resources / influencers / finance magnets
  - Engage in grant writing
  - Make AFROHUN results visible to potential funders/ partners.
Engage potential into high impact activities.
  - Share opportunities, so that support can be mobilized

AFRICA ONE HEALTH UNIVERSITY NETWORK BUSINESS PLAN

About Us

>> The Genesis

As One Health Central and Eastern Africa (OHCEA), we have our roots in the Leadership Initiative of Public Health in East Africa (LIPHEA), which were spearheaded by Makerere University School of Public Health (MakSPH) in Uganda, in collaboration with the University of Health and Allied Sciences (MUHAS), School of Public Health in Tanzania since 2005; all established with support from USAID.

Inspired by the evolution of the One Health concept and philosophy, LIPHEA invited schools of veterinary medicine in the region to join the formation of OHCEA, which was inaugurated on 17th October 2010. It all started with seven schools of public health, veterinary medicine, and agriculture from Uganda, Tanzania, and Kenya.
